COURSE OUTCOMES/OBJECTIVES: In our day, the ability to "read" a poem--to fully respond to and appreciate it--is by no means a given. It is something many of us must learn, through attention to certain formal and thematic features of the genre, and through practice. Developing the ability and the inclination to read poetry is well worth our while because poetry opens us up to a wealth of human experience. Most poetry is, after all, the artistic expression of human feeling. In this course, our first objective is to improve our ability to read poetry--to understand how a wide variety of poetic texts work by considering such technical problems as tone, speaker, situation and setting, language, structure, sound, and form. We will look at poems in their biographical, historical, cultural, and literary contexts, to learn how poems come into being and the effect they can have on the world around them. Our second objective is to develop the ability to articulate our own experience of the poems we read by writing about them. Although writing poetry is not a requirement of this course, perhaps the expressiveness of the genre will inspire some of us to make our own attempt at invoking the Muses.

COURSE METHOD: The course will consist of some lecturing, a great deal of both class and group discussion, writing assignments, and two exams.

EVALUATION: Midterm (15%), final exam (20%), two essays (15%, 20%), report (10%), homework assignments (10%), class attendance and participation (10%). Grade Scale: 93-100=A; 90-92=A-; 87-89=B+; 83-86=B; 80-82=B-; 77-79=C+; 73-76=C; 70-72=C-; 67-69=D+; 63-66=D; 60-62=D- . It is within the instructor's purview to apply qualitative judgment in determining grades for any assignments and for the final course grade.

ATTENDANCE: I expect you to attend class regularly and promptly, to have read, reread, and reread the poems, to have completed the writing assignment, and to be ready for discussion. I will read off your name at the beginning of each class, both to learn who you are and to keep track of your attendance. It is your responsibility to consult me with me if you are late or absent.

CLASS DISCUSSION: Because we all bring to our reading of poetry a variety of skills and insights, the success of this course will depend upon our willingness to share these skills and insights with one another. It is not always easy to talk about poetry, often because it evokes feelings that are deeply personal and thus difficult to express (that's one of the reasons why these feelings are so often expressed in poetry, rather than elsewhere). But the effort to do so will be worth it. I will count on everyone to try, regularly, to contribute something to the discussion. Your participation grade will reflect your regular, voluntary engagement in class discussion. Full attendance without such engagement will earn no more than a grade of C for participation.

*Please turn off and put away all cell phones during class.

* Your final exam is on Thurs. Dec. 16 at 8:30 a.m.; adjust your travel plans to accommodate that schedule.

WRITING ASSIGNMENTS: For assistance in writing about poetry, you will read pages 623-644 of our anthology. Please consult these pages, as well as the attached “Rubric,” which will help you in constructing coherent persuasive analytical essays – about poetry as well as other kinds of literature. Please come to see me if you have any questions.

Report: You will be required to choose and view one of several videos, on reserve, that focus on the work of individual poets. You will receive a handout detailing this assignment.

NOTE: Due dates for writing assignments are firm. If for some extraordinary reason you must be late, you need to talk to me. Late assignments automatically receive a lower grade.

Also, see “READING AND WRITING ASSIGNMENTS.”

ACADEMIC HONESTY: Cheating and plagiarism will not be tolerated. Plagiarism is the misrepresentation of someone else's work as your own. This includes such instances as quoting directly from a published work without giving the author credit (i.e. proper citation), inserting the author's words as your own, using or "borrowing" another student's work, buying a paper from a professional service, etc. It is your responsibility to be familiar with what constitutes plagiarism and, in the event of uncertainty, to ask in a constructive manner about a writing in question before it is due in a final version. You are also required to keep all note cards and rough drafts on papers and assignments until given a final grade for that course. Evidence of plagiarism and cheating will be dealt with in accordance with the college policy on academic honesty found in the Student Handbook. Please read this policy in its entirety. In the event of a suspected infraction – in fairness to your peers and the standards of the college – it is my job to send the materials in question to the Dean's Office at which time you are given the chance to provide your perspective on the matter.

ACCOMMODATIONS: Students who wish to request accommodations in this class for a disability should contact Mr. Joe Kempfer, Assistant Director of Learning Services for Disability Support, 1307 Main Street (extension 1510). Accommodations cannot be provided until authorization is received from the office of Learning Services.

READING AND WRITING ASSIGNMENTS: When I assign a chapter, read carefully the first part, which explains the new terminology and gives examples. When you move on to the specific poems I've assigned from the second part of the chapter, read and reread them carefully in the light of the new terminology. Whenever a poetry term is highlighted in the text, be sure to study its definition, using the chapter and the glossary at the back of the book.

Use the questions at the end of the poems to help you as you reread the poems. Some of these questions you must answer in writing, as indicated in brackets on the syllabus. Your answers should be full and thoughtful, and should always be in prose paragraph form unless a list is specifically indicated. Sometimes a minimum required word count is indicated. Ultimately, I'm looking for evidence that you've read the poem repeatedly and carefully, that you have thought long and hard about it, and that you have put a good deal of effort into answering the questions.

Please bring two copies to class. You'll hand in one copy at the start of class and you'll keep the other copy to consult during our class discussion. At the right hand corner of the assignment sheet, record your name, the date the assignment is due, and the poet(s)' name and/or “Suggestion” number. After each individual answer, include a word count. *Entries submitted apart from class (due to an absence) or at the end of class (unless typed) will receive no more than half credit.

I encourage you to read all of the poems in each section, even if they are not assigned. Although you might not have time to give them the close attention you give the assigned poems, reading them will help you better understand the topic of the chapter.

Special Note: There is no single, perfect interpretation of a poem. On the other hand, the more poetry one reads – with an awareness of and attention to various stylistic components – the better one becomes at coming up with a “good” interpretation and the more one enjoys the experience.

In addition to daily assignments, each student will be responsible for choosing and presenting on one poem from the Poetry 180 text. Details to be announced in class.

SCHEDULE OF ASSIGNMENTS: Readings must be completed by the day on which they are listed. This schedule may be revised as the course progresses. I will announce changes in class. If you are late or absent, it is your responsibility to become informed of any changes.
