Italian 105 is designed for students who have studied and completed Italian 100 or its equivalent. There are three classes per week and it is expected that students spend as much time as needed outside the class to complete the homework and language laboratory assignments. The course focuses on the four skills of speaking, reading, writing, and listening, as well as developing your knowledge and understanding of Italian culture. As these areas of language learning are interrelated, we will not study them separately, but rather as parts of one whole, which is the Italian language.

Goals of the course:

Communication in a foreign language means understanding what others say and transmitting your own message in such a way as to avoid misunderstandings. As you learn to do this, you will make the kind of errors that are necessary for acquiring the language. Do not hesitate to take risks and try out different hypotheses with the language. By the end of the course you will:

1. have heard about, reflected upon, and experienced some limited manifestations of different socio-cultural norms, and will be able to react with awareness of such differences;
2. be able to speak, creating original short sentences of your own by combining memorized phrases learned during the semester;
3. be able to manage short conversations in predictable, simple situations with persons used to dealing with non-native Italian speakers;
4. comprehend some short, learned utterances in predictable situations or in situations where the context strongly supports understanding;
5. read and comprehend the details of short texts in areas of

- practical needs or familiar content;
6. be able to read longer texts for general scope and key ideas;
 7. be able to write short messages on familiar topics.

Organization of the course:

Italian 100 consists of four (4) major components which serve to strengthen and reinforce one another:

1. The class meetings.

The professor will present the basic grammatical structures and language tasks and reinforce them through a variety of classroom activities. Students will continue to practice these concepts through homework and laboratory assignments.

2. Attendance and active participation.

Students are required to attend classes and actively participate by volunteering answers during homework corrections or activities or by attempting to respond to the professor when called. Making common mistakes is part of the learning process; it is necessary and will not affect the grade.

It is not to be confused with coming to class with no homework done or not being prepared. See Attendance policy.

3. Independent Study:

Students should spend as much time as they need listening to the Online Lab Audio Program in order to understand the material and complete the lab exercises (www.mhhe.com/prego7 . No password needed). Once they have completed the lab assignment they may check their answers with the answer key. Lab work needs to be handed in before or on the day of the chapter quiz/exam.

4. Homework assignments including (but not limited too) workbook exercises.

The workbook activities are coordinated with the structures, vocabulary, and concepts presented in your textbook. The key is to keep pace by doing your workbook exercises on a daily basis. By working every day you naturally reinforce what you have learned in class, you discover immediately if you are having problems, and you avoid the strain of overloading yourself.

Important Note: Each of the four components listed above is essential in order to fulfill the minimum requirements for the course. Failure to satisfactorily complete any one of the four elements may result in the lowering of the final grade.

Attendance and Class Grade:

Class attendance is crucial to the successful completion of this or any foreign language course. Language skill development requires frequent and sustained practice. Your attendance and active participation in all components of the language program are required.

For each class:

- Absent, unexcused students receive 0 points.
- Absent students who have NOT notified me BEFORE the missed class also receive 0 points in Quiz/Test/Homework due that day. I will excuse absences due to illness or other emergency. If a student personally cannot call or email me, they need to have someone else do it for them. I reserve the right to request documentation.
If a student is absent for more than two (2) consecutive times, I need to be notified prior to class and to receive documentation from the Health Center or from the office of Learning Services (1307 Main Street, Telephone x1510), in order to be excused and make up any test.
- Late (over 10 minutes) or unprepared students receive 1 point.
- Absent, excused students receive 1 point.
- On time, prepared students receive 2 points.
- Students with 0-2 absences add 30 bonus points to their class grade (for a max. of 110 points).
■ Students with 3 absences add 20 bonus points to their class grade (for a max. of 100 points).
■ After 3 absences, excused or not, absent students do not receive any points for the missed class or any other bonus points. Generally the students who do best in the course are those who have NO absences.

Absences cannot be used as an excuse for not doing homework. Students have the responsibility to talk to another student in the class or the professor about any assignment that needs to be completed for the following class.

Requests to excuse absences at the end of the semester will not be considered. Students have the responsibility of keeping track of their own absences. No reminders will be given.

Format for written work:

I will not accept work that does not follow one of these formats

Handwritten:

- Use smooth-edged paper (no spiral notebook tear-outs).
- Write neatly on every other line.

Make-ups:

The dates of the exams, quizzes, compositions or other work are unchangeable. There will be no opportunity to take exams/quizzes on other dates without an excuse from the professor who will determine whether the excuse is acceptable or not. Students must discuss this with me before the next class meeting. Read the Attendance policy above.

Academic Honesty:

Asking/Receiving help on exams, quizzes, composition or other work is prohibited and, thus, these actions will be considered a violation of the Academic behavior Code. Please, refer to the Academic Honesty Policy section in the Student Handbook.

- Homework may be graded, and so is to be done independently.
- Improper use of the dictionary or use of online translating services for written assignments will result in a grade zero. (You may look up for words that you do not understand from a reading assignment or that you have learned and you do not remember).
- Your written work (compositions or else) should not include expressions or grammatical structures that we have not covered yet. Such work may be rejected.

Don't forget to write the complete Academic Behavior Code on all work handed in for a grade.
