Course Description in Moravian College Catalog

253. Human Resource Management. Employee motivation, recruitment and selection, performance evaluation, training and development, compensation and benefit plans, intra-organizational communication. Emphasis on case studies to develop problem-solving and decision-making abilities; operational practices; relevant behavioral-science theories; public policy and institutional constraints on effective use of human resources.

Prerequisite: Management 223 or permission from instructor.

This course will focus on the business concerns of employee motivation, recruitment, selection, performance evaluation, training, compensation, benefits, intra-organizational communication, and organizational development. Emphasis will be on acquiring theoretical knowledge and practical skills in these areas. The course will use an experiential learning approach. That is, students will not only study the concepts but practice using their acquired knowledge in case studies and simulation.

All students will be required to complete the readings, compose a resume and cover letter, participate in classroom discussions, and complete an HRM research project.

Please bring your book and notes on your reading to each class.

COURSE PROJECT

HUMAN RESOURCE MANAGEMENT ISSUES

Each student is required to complete an analysis of a Human Resource Management issue. The area of study will be selected by the student and approved by the professor. The topic should address a relevant business issue. You will define the topic, indicate why it is a significant issue, describe the current state, and offer suggestions on what should be done to improve this issue. The paper should include references to at least five articles from journals and business periodicals as well as references to primary sources. All references should be properly cited. The paper should be 8-10 numbered pages. In addition to the paper, all projects will include an executive summary. This summary will be presented to the class and critiques will be provided to the presenter. The presentations will be 10-12 minutes and include visuals and handouts.

ATTENDANCE, CLASSROOM PARTICIPATION, AND EXPECTATIONS

All students are expected to attend class and participate in class discussions. Failure to attend class on more than three occasions for any purpose automatically disqualifies the student from receiving the highest participation grade. Additional absences will result in a further lowering of the participation grade and possible failure of the course. Homework will be collected, graded, and returned. The use of cell phones in the classroom is not permitted. Students who wish to request accommodations in this class for a disability should contact Mr. Joe Kempfer, Assistant Director of Learning Services for Disability Support, 1307 Main Street (extension 1510). Accommodations cannot be provided until authorization is received from the office of Learning Services.

METHOD OF EVALUATION

The student's grade for the course will be based on the results of the results of 3 exams, the course project, and class participation. Each of the activities will contribute 20% of the final grade. Make-up exams will be given only if there are serious circumstances.

ACADEMIC HONESTY

The Academic Honesty Policy as written in the student handbook will serve as our policy for this course.

EXTRA CREDIT ASSIGNMENTS

Extra credit opportunities are available only with the written approval of the instructor.
