Office Hours: Tuesday 10 am-11am, Wednesday 4pm-5pm and by appointment.

Lectures: MW 11:45am- 12:55pm, Main St. Campus, Priscilla Payne Hurd Academic Complex, 101.

Course Description:

- The course outlines three major themes related to the Qur'an:

(i) The basic structure of Qur'anic worldview: In the first part of the course, the main question is as follows: What are the major themes of the Qur'an? To address this question, we discuss Qur'anic views of God, Human being, the Muslim Community, the Structure of the World as human beings' home, and Etico-Religious concepts. We particularly emphasis on three types of relations between God and human being as conceived in the Qur'an: Ontological relation, Communicative relation, and Ethical relation.

(ii) Interpreting the Qur'an: In the second part of the course, the main question is as follows: How should one understand and interpret the Qur'an? To address this question, we discuss three major approaches in the tradition of Qur'anic exegesis: Textualism, Semi-textualism, and Contextualism.

(iii) Contemporary Challenges: The Qur'an has been facing some serious challenges in the modern era. In this course, we briefly address two of those major challenges: (i) The Feminist Challenges, i.e., the status of women in the Qur'an, and the whole issues regarding women's rights in Islam; (ii) the issue of violence and more specifically, the whole debates on the concept of Jihad in the Qur'an.

For each theme, we closely examine the Qur'an itself to have a first hand experience of the language and content of the Text.

Course Objectives:

- To develop a substantial understanding of the text of the Qur'an, including its form, style, and content.
- To develop skills of textual analysis through close reading and the comparison of texts.
- To exercise scholarly fairness, sympathy, and tolerance toward different cultures and world views, and expand our intellectual horizon.
- To develop expository writing skills.
- In a class of this nature, class members will naturally come with or develop a wide variety of opinions about the topics covered. But the goal of this course is not to agree and to adopt a single opinion concerning the interpretation of a particular text; rather, the goal is to back up or criticize the opinions put forward in a rational manner, and to reveal the complexity of cultural phenomena, particularly, in the realm of religion.
- To have a better understanding of the impact of the Qur'an on Muslims' contemporary lives.

Required Texts:

- God and Man in the Qur'an (Semantics of the Qur'anic Weltanschauung), Toshihiko Izutsu. Islamic Book Trust, Kuala Lumpur, 2002. ISBN: 983-9154-38-9
- The Qur'an (An Introduction), Abdullah Saeed, Routledge, 2008. ISBN: 978-0-42125-6.
- The Qur'an, A New Translation by M.A.S. Abdel Haleem, Oxford University Press, 2008. ISBN: 978-0-19-953595-8.

These books are available at Moravian College Book Store.

- Some additional articles would also be available during the course on the Blackboard. (Please make sure you have access to Blackboard and the shell designed for this course.)
- To search the content of the Qur'an, you may use the search engine provided by the following websites:
(www.tanzil.info) or (<http://www.islamicity.com/mosque/quran/>)

For further reading on the Qur'an, the following book is recommended:

Note: You will find that you get the most out of the course if you read each assignment before lecture and then re-read the assignment after the lecture.

Lecture attendance:

It is not possible to perform well in the course without attending lecture regularly. We will cover substantial amounts of material in lecture not included anywhere in the readings. It is highly unlikely that you will learn this material adequately by, e.g., borrowing your friend's lecture notes. You have two class sessions you can miss with no questions asked. Beyond those two class sessions, any further missed classes without a really good excuse (involving a note from your doctor, psychiatrist, parole officer, etc.) will cost you 2% of your final grade.

Academic honesty:

Students are required to honor academic integrity. The course imposes the application of Moravian College's Academic Honesty Policy. The policy is to be found at Moravian College's Student Handbook.

Course requirements:

- A regular final exam, scheduled for Tuesday, December 13 at 8:30am, plus a midterm (tentatively scheduled for Wednesday, October 12, 2011). You will receive a Study Guide for the Midterm and Final Exams prior to the exams to know what kind of questions you should expect on the Midterm and Final Exams. Make up final exam will be administered only under the most extraordinary of circumstances, and only in light of appropriate supporting documents.
- One paper (1500-2000 words). On Wednesday, November 2, 2011, you will receive the paper topic. The paper due is Wednesday, November 16, 2011. Paper should be typed, double spaced, and spell-checked. You are responsible to submit a hard copy of your paper. In some exceptional cases, you may be allowed to submit your paper through email. If so, you must receive a confirmation email from me, otherwise, you must assume that I have not received your paper. If the paper is turned in late without prior permission, the grade will be adjusted downwards by a third of a grade for each day the paper is late (e.g., A to A-, A- to B+, B+ to B, etc.). It is always helpful to discuss the draft of your paper with your friends, roommates, or classmates so as to solicit feedback.

- You will be required to write weekly short paragraphs (not more than two pages) consist of your critical evaluation of the material to be discussed in the class. In the paragraphs, you should concentrate on a specific concept, theme or question. You are required to complete 10 assignments of this sort by the end of the semester, that is, you have the option of choosing 10 out of roughly 13 assignments I am to assign throughout the semester. Every week, by the end of our Wednesday class, the assignments should be submitted. (There would be no assignment due on Wednesday August 31.)

Important note: By the end of the semester, all four above-mentioned requirements must be completed in order to pass the course. In order words, if you miss at least one of the above requirements, we will fail the course automatically.
