Course Goal

Child Development is designed to trace the development of the child from the prenatal period to adolescence. Emphasis will be placed on understanding current issues in cognitive and social-emotional development. Topics to be discussed include emotion, attachment, moral reasoning, sex and gender, family, and peer relations. Theory, methodology, and empirical evidence will guide the examination of these topics.

Specific Course Objectives

1. To stimulate critical thinking about complex theoretical and methodological issues within the subdisciplinary context.
2. To promote the oral expression of critical thinking on issues of theoretical and methodological importance.
3. To engage students in the process of collaborative learning with their peers through discussion both inside and outside of class.
4. To instill an appreciation for and understanding of the methods and content of empirical inquiry in developmental psychology.
5. To impart more advanced skills in writing, with specific emphasis on the canons of scientific writing unique to the subdiscipline.
6. To understand the meaning of our text material and empirical research through “real world learning” via service in the local community.

Class Structure

For the most part, we will follow a standard structure each week of the semester. Each week will bring one broad topic relating to the field of child development. There will be a lecture based on the textbook material, followed by student-organized discussion about a sub-topic relating to the week's topic.

Components of the Course

1. Participation in our Learning Community

Infancy and Childhood is an advanced course in psychology that requires active discussion and contribution from each member of the class. The course will be greatly enhanced if we can benefit from each participant's experiences, thoughts, and opinions to enhance our understanding of the course material.

Class participation is expected in class and will be required on discussion days. Grades for participation will depend on both the quantity and the quality of your contributions. If you are not in class, you cannot participate and your participation grade for that class will be a zero. If you attend class but do not verbally contribute to the discussion, your grade for that class will be 50%. Students will complete a self-evaluation of their participation for each discussion day. If at any time you would like to discuss your level of participation, please feel free to come and see me.

2. Conference Sessions

After we cover each chapter, we will have a conference-style discussion of several readings that serve to bridge the gap between principles and theories and the real world. The goal of these conference sessions is for you to enrich your understanding and appreciation of developmental theory as it relates to applied issues. The assigned readings present "hot topics" in child development related to the week's topic. These readings are intended to stimulate critical thinking and promote class discussion.

On conference days, two discussion leaders will lead the conference session. As discussion leaders, your job is to work with your partner to organize the conference session around issues such as (1) identification of the question/topic of interest and the importance of that question to the field of child development, (2) critique and evaluation of research findings, (3) implications of the information presented in the article (both real world and applied implications), and (4) discussion of directions for future research that follow from the readings. The goal is to facilitate discussion of the assigned readings.

In addition to facilitating discussion, each pair of discussion leaders will be responsible for providing the class and the instructor with a well-organized and informative “fact sheet” that summarizes the day’s topic/readings (outside sources are encouraged).

Grades for discussion leaders will be determined by student feedback, instructor evaluation, and overall quality of fact sheet and discussion hour.

3. Learning Checks

You will have two “learning checks” during the semester. These in-class checks should challenge you to USE the information you are learning in class and in the textbook. Each learning check will be described and discussed in advance of its scheduled day. Each will be either one long essay or several shorter essays.

4. Book Club

The Book Club selection for this semester is The Giver by Lois Lowry. The Giver received the 1994 John Newberry Medal for the most distinguished contribution to American literature for children. The book explores a utopian world through the eyes of a twelve-year old boy named Jonas. Through Jonas’s experiences, and those of his family and community, the reader is exposed to concepts of child development, including influences of the family and one’s culture. Students will read this book, complete a written assignment and engage in a class discussion of the book.

5. Research on a non-profit

Each student will select a non-profit agency that works to improve children (and family’s) lives. The organization may be local, regional, or national. The student’s job is to research the organization, compiling as much information as possible—online, snail mail information, personal contact-supplied information. The student will then evaluate the program—strengths, weaknesses, etc. Specific guidelines will be distributed later in the semester. At the end of the semester, we will have a “Discussion with the CEOs,” during which time each student will represent the CEO of the non-profit and will engage in a discussion/Q&A about the work they do.

6. Healthy Kids Day

I will get you information on this event at the Bethlehem YMCA during the first week of class. Your participation is required. Failure to attend and serve will result in a 5-point deduction from your final course grade. Additional participation at the Y may be available for extra credit. You must make arrangements with me before February 2nd. After that, there will no possibility of extra credit opportunities.

Grades

Class Participation	15%
	Note: Even if you attend, if you say nothing, you will get 50%.
Conference Session Leader & Handout	10%
Learning Check 1	20%
Learning Check 2	20%
The Giver Discussion/Write-Up	5%/5%
	Note: Failure to attend the discussion of The Giver will result in a 10-point deduction on the paper.
Non-profit research paper	20%
Healthy Kids Day	(-5 points on final grade, if do not participate)
Misc. in-class assignments, quizzes, and homework assignments	5%

Note: The instructor reserves the right to use qualitative judgment when assigning grades. For example, being late to class on a regular basis or using a cell phone or other device during class may contribute to a deduction on the final grade. These considerations may affect the misc. 5% grade assignment.

PART III: CLASS POLICIES

Attendance Policy

As Moravian College's Attendance Policy in the Student Handbook states, "students are expected to attend classes regularly." If you have an unavoidable situation that prevents you from being in class, please advise the instructor before the class meeting. Excused absences will require appropriate documentation (e.g., doctor's note). Otherwise, your attendance will be expected. Excessive absences, meaning more than two, will result in a 3-point deduction per absence on the final average. Remember, on discussion days, you will get a 0 for participation. If you are absent, it is your responsibility to get missed material from a classmate. As discussed above, absence from a class discussion or The Giver discussion will result in zero points for class discussion and a 10 point deduction on the corresponding written assignments (i.e., The Giver paper).

Academic Integrity

The Policy on Academic Honesty (Student Handbook) states, "Moravian College expects its students to perform their academic work honestly and fairly." Therefore, students are expected to be honest in all matters pertaining to this class, without exception.

Put simply: If you are caught cheating, you will receive a failing grade. All situations of academic dishonesty will be reported to the Academic Dean's Office. Taking summaries from sites such as SparkNotes and using them in a paper is considered plagiarizing. If they are not your thoughts and ideas and you present them as such, then it is plagiarism.

All work submitted for evaluation in this course must be original work. It may not be "borrowed" from another student, a printed source, or online source without proper credit as outlined by the current APA Manual (available in the Reference section of Reeves Library). Please note that no part of your assignments may be shared with other students in this class or with students in future classes, and you may not refer to papers from previous classes. All papers submitted for this class must be original work completed to meet the requirements of this class. Psychology 211 is a prerequisite for this class and thus, you are expected to know APA style for citations and references.

Students may not plagiarize. The Moravian College Student Handbook states, "[w]hen students use the specific thoughts, ideas, writings, or expressions of another person, they must accompany each instance of use with some form of attribution to the source." Failure to do so is plagiarism, a major form of dishonesty. Specific procedures for attribution for this course are outlined in the APA Publication Manual (3 copies are available in the reference section of the library). If you are not sure what constitutes plagiarism, please set up an appointment with the instructor. Otherwise, adherence to the guidelines set forth by APA will be expected. Students must turn in copies of all sources used for papers and are expected to "keep all notes, drafts, and materials used in preparing assignments until a final course grade is given." A student judged to have violated the policy on academic honesty will receive a grade of zero for the relevant assignment or a failing grade for the course, at the discretion of the instructor. Any such violation will be reported in writing to the office of the Academic Dean.

Note: You are responsible for reading the Student Handbook as well as this syllabus, and for adhering to all outlined policies.

Late Papers

A 10-point deduction will be applied for each partial or full day papers are late (unless it is noted above that late papers will not be accepted), beginning at the start of class (10:20am)—no exceptions...not even "my printer wouldn't work," "my computer broke," or "the computer didn't save it." Papers will not be accepted after 4 days (at that point, the paper would start at a 60 and would be a failing paper). Back up all your files...save to the server...save to disk...SAVE EARLY AND SAVE OFTEN. If there is a printer problem and you are minutes from the start of class, email me the finished document as an attachment (before class) and then get me a hard copy ASAP after class. If I cannot open the attachment, late deductions will apply. This policy applies to all papers for this.

If you turn in a paper late, you know the policy...do not tell me it is unfair if you get deductions. Plan ahead and get your papers in on time. And remember, in fairness to other students, LATE IS LATE. If class has begun and it is after 10:20, papers will be marked late.

Make Up Learning Checks

Learning Checks cannot be made up. Only under extraordinary and documented circumstances will there be a makeup. Extraordinary does not mean "I didn't feel well so here's a note from the health center..." The instructor must be notified as soon as an event occurs to have any exceptions considered.

Learning Services Office

The Learning Services Office "provides assistance to students who are experiencing academic difficulties" (Student Handbook). If you feel you need special services through this office, you may call 610-861-1510 or visit their offices at 1307 Main Street. If you do not document something that is interfering with your school work, when it is happening, I cannot make exceptions after the fact.
