HOW SHOULD WE LIVE

Some political theorists regard this question as the most important of all. Against the traditions of divine right monarchy, they claim that political foundation requires a contract among would-be subjects. John Locke, for example, argues that only explicit consent on the part of the future subject makes political order legitimate and creates an obligation to obey the law. For others, such as Marx and Mill, considering political order through the perspective of a founding contract alone is of limited value because important aspects of shared lives remain invisible, intractable, or uncontested. We will ask: What makes the state legitimate? Why should I obey the law? When do political subjects face conflicts about what they should do? How do various theorists conceptualize power? What aspects of life should be considered politically relevant? And, finally, what are the limits of the social contract perspective?

OUR LIVES TOGETHER?

COURSE OBJECTIVES

to understand the social contract as a model of political life to secure foundations necessary to the study of contemporary democratic theory to identify pre-political claims (human nature, for example) and their implications to appreciate the merits of different theories through critical comparison to use political language carefully, correctly, and self-consciously to improve verbal and written expression with reference to textual evidence

"IN BOTH CASES, HOWEVER, MARRIAGE IS DETERMINED BY THE CLASS POSITION OF THE PARTICIPANTS AND TO THE EXTENT ALWAYS REMAINS MARRIAGE OF CONVENIENCE. IN BOTH CASES, THIS MARRIAGE OF CONVENIENCE OFTEN ENOUGH TURNS INTO THE CRASSEST PROSTITUTION-SOMETIMES ON BOTH SIDES, BUT MUCH MORE GENERALLY ON THE PART OF THE WIFE, WHO DIFFERS FROM THE ORDINARY COURTESAN ONLY IN THAT SHE DOES NOT HIRE OUT HER BODY, LIKE A WAGE-WORKER, ON PIECEWORK, BUT SELLS IT INTO SLAVERY ONCE AND FOR ALL."

FRIEDRICH ENGELS

- JOHN STUART MILL

Aim for this!

What does an engagement grade represent?

A Critical, innovative and careful reading of all assignments; substantial notes or written preparation for discussion; frequent text-based contributions; contribution of discussion-shaping questions; careful engagement of the arguments of others; support of positive discussion dynamics.

B Complete and careful readings; consistent notes or written preparation for discussion; lively, substantial, and argumentative text-based contributions; contribution of independent questions; engagement of the arguments of others.

C Incomplete or superficial readings; minimal notes or written preparation for discussion; regular (at least once per meeting) discussion participation.

D Incomplete or missing readings; lack of notes or written preparation for discussion; mostly passive presence.

F Persistent, vegetative state; low-level trance; slightly elevated body temperature

General Course Information

I invite you to visit my office hours. Please be in touch with any questions and thoughts you may have about our work together. I am happy to help you with difficulties relating to your reading of our texts as well as challenges that may arise with regard to assignments. In general, please make use of my office hours. It is my pleasure to help you improve your enjoyment of and performance in this course.

Be diligent in your studies and attend class. Undocumented absences beyond the first will harm your engagement grade at the rate of 5% of your total course grade (per absence).

This is an academic setting in which the goal is thoughtful discourse. Neither food consumption, nor mobile phone noise, nor phone activity (texting or searching) of any kind is permitted. Students who disturb the contemplative and discursive atmosphere of learning will be asked to leave the room for the rest of class.

Expect to work six hours on average outside of class per week. The workload varies, and the texts can be challenging. Give yourself plenty of time to read, review, and take notes on texts. Our interest is in deep readings and in gaining a solid toolkit of political theory questions, concepts, and arguments.

*Invisible and inaudible cellphones, please! Exceptions apply.

We will discuss written assignments two weeks in advance. I will offer instructions on how to prepare for examinations in the class preceding the examination date.

I strongly discourage late assignments, except in appropriately documented emergency situations. For the sake of equity, please do not ask for special treatment. Late work is penalized at 30% of the assignment grade.

Plagiarism will result in failure of the assignment in this class. Please see Moravian College Student Handbook for an account of academic honesty. See <http://www.moravian.edu/studentlife/handbook/academic2.htm>

Students who wish to request accommodations in this class for a learning disability should contact Ms. Elaine Marsa, Assistant Director of Learning Services for Disability Support, 1307 Main Street (extension 1510). Accommodations cannot be provided until authorization is received from the office of Learning Services.

10) Please also note that this syllabus is subject to change.

PLEASE SUPPORT A CULTURE OF INTELLECTUAL DISCUSSION.

 If you are a parent or a caretaker and must be accessible at all times, please let me know.*
