MODERN MEXICO

Course Description

This course explores the creation of modern Mexico from a social and cultural perspective. It begins with an analysis of the independence war followed by a study of the difficulties faced by the new nation such as the Mexican-American War, in which Mexico lost half of its territory to the United States. Then we examine the conditions generated by the dictatorship of General Porfirio Díaz, who ruled the country for more than three decades, resulting in a civil war: the Mexican revolution. We will look at the institutionalization of the social revolution, the rise of nationalism, and the social movements that have created present-day Mexico. The course concentrates on three main themes: race, gender, and nation-state formation. Our journey is based on the analysis of a vast array of primary sources and secondary sources which not only include official documents, newspapers, or images; but also literature, art, cinema, and other cultural manifestations.

Objectives

- Engage in active learning: a process in which students familiarize themselves with new information, analyze it, create their own interpretation, and express it in clear and well-structured arguments.
- Become critical, creative, and independent thinkers.
- Familiarize with various sources and with the historiography of modern Mexico.
- Question your previous ideas about Mexico and expand your knowledge of this country.
- Learn to value diversity and the need of understanding different cultures in a globalized era.

The Violin, directed by Francisco Vargas, Mexico, 2005.

Class Requirements and Classroom Policies

20% Participation and classroom work

- Attendance is not enough; you need to be proactive expressing your ideas and doubts and interacting with other classmates. Participation is essential to generate a rich and stimulating discussion and to maintain students involved and motivated.
- In order to facilitate participation you have to make all the readings before class and take notes about them in order to be prepared to ask questions, discuss, and reflect about the assigned material. Be ready to define the main arguments and ideas addressed in each document, give your opinion about the content and style of each text, and establish connections with what we have read so far and your previous knowledge and experience.
- Asking questions is also an essential element of the learning process, so do not feel ashamed about having doubts. One of the main goals of college education is to develop a critical mind and be able to see the world from various perspectives, so please do ask questions and express your dissent.
- Classroom work refers to written analysis of primary or secondary sources carried out during the class, as well as written feedback and group discussions.
- If you aim to get an A or A- you need to do all the readings. This is a very intense course, so please organize your study time so you can finish readings before the due date. You need to get hold of the books as soon as possible.

Research Paper

Throughout the semester you will carry out an in-depth monographic study about any topic of your interest related modern Mexico. It should have enough quality to be published in an undergraduate journal. Students will submit several assignments and present their progress in front of the class. Each stage is essential and should be given the importance of an independent assignment. At the end students will submit a dossier including all the previous work and present their final outcome.

5% Research Topic

Provide a tentative title, a 400-word description addressing the questions what, why, and how, and a bibliography including at least seven books or articles. Please look at the document providing guidance on how to write a bibliography under Information in the Blackboard site of this course.

10% Literature Review

A five-page long paper discussing the historiography on your topic. You will continue researching, reading and adding material for your final paper, however this literature review will be the first approach to your object of study revealing if you should follow a different line or explore other topic.

10% Research Project

A four-page long project including: title, introduction, outline describing each section of your paper, and a bibliography. The project should address which primary sources you are going to analyze, why you are using those sources, which is your thesis, and how does that source help you to prove your thesis. Include a bibliography with at least seven books or articles in addition to your primary sources.

5% Project Presentation

You will present your research project and will receive feedback from your classmates. Presentations should last 10 minutes, followed by a discussion.

15% First Draft of your final paper

Length: at least 7 pages including introduction, conclusions and bibliography.

15% Second Draft of your final paper

Length: at least 13 pages including introduction, conclusions and bibliography.

15% Final Paper plus dossier

Length: 15-20 pages including introduction, conclusions and bibliography.

You will submit all the previous stages of your research at this point.

5% Final research presentation

It should last 20 minutes and will take place the last two classes of the semester.

The accumulated points will be converted to letter grades using the following scale:

100-93% =A, 92-90% = A-, 89-87% = B+, 86-83% = B, 82-80% = B-, 79-77% = C+, 76-73% = C, 72-70% = C-, 69-67%= D+, 66-63%= D, 62-60%= D- Anything less than 60% is an F.

Five points will be deducted from each assignment's grade if it is submitted after the deadline and this deduction will be repeated for each consecutive late day after the assigned due date.

If you are unsure or would like some advice about a specific assignment, please come to my office hours at least one week before the due date.

Back up all your work (in your computer and an external drive) in order to avoid losing your files.

About style:

- Please use Times New Roman font size 12, one-inch margins, and double-space in between lines in all your assignments. The student's name, course number, and submission date should be typed in the upper left corner of the first page with single space in between lines. After this header, one blank line should appear before the assignment title, which should be followed by one blank line before beginning the assignment.
- Citations must be included in all papers including footnotes following the Chicago Style. See <http://moravian.libguides.com/content.php?pid=59393&sid=436067> or <http://dlib.hamilton.edu/sp/subjects/guide.php?subject=CitingSources#misc>
- You should take advantage The Writing Center, which is a free resource for improving your writing. At the Writing Center, trained Moravian students can help you figure out assignments and improve your writing. They can help at any stage of the writing process, whether you have not started the assignment and need help picking a topic, or you are near the end and want to check that everything is in order. And it is not just for help with Writing 100 or English papers—any type of writing can be taken there, including science reports and cover letters. The tutors will first work with you to make sure that all the bigger issues are covered, such as proper citation, fulfilling the assignment, and structure of the paper. Then, they can also help you with spelling, grammar, and mechanics. You can sign up for a half-hour or an hour-long appointment. After your appointment, the tutor you work with will send me a progress report, letting me know that you were there. The Writing Center is on the second floor of Zinzendorf Hall and the extension is 1592. Their hours vary each semester, but they are generally open Monday-Thursday afternoons and evenings, and Sunday evening. Watch your email for an announcement about when the Writing Center opens, generally the third week of the term, which will also include the hours.
- Submit your work in hard copy at class time. I will not accept email submissions.
- Back up all your work (in your computer and an external drive) in order to avoid losing your files.

About sources:

- You will use both primary and secondary sources in your research paper. Your work should reveal an in-depth analysis of your primary source and an clear understanding of the context and the historiography. It should have enough quality to be published in an undergraduate journal.
- Do not use internet sources in your research. The following are exceptions to this rule and may be used, since they are clearly of a scholarly nature:
 - Articles from full-text databases like JSTOR and Project Muse
<http://www.jstor.org/> and <http://muse.jhu.edu/>
 - Online primary sources (texts written by historical actors that have been re-published on the web).
 - Internet pages that I have approved well in advance, at least one week before turning in the assignment.
- Newspapers or magazines found on the internet can be used as primary sources rather than a substitute of scholarly articles or books.
- Videos and images from the internet are acceptable, but the above restrictions applied for other kind of material, please ask if unsure.

- Wikipedia is not a reliable source of information, so it is not acceptable to base your academic papers or presentations on it. Using Wikipedia will result in an “F”.
- Take advantage of the library collection and of interlibrary loans, which have to be ordered at least a couple of weeks before the date you plan to start working on them, so please plan ahead.
- For advice and inspiration see recommended websites under Information in the Blackboard site of this course.

About attendance and classroom etiquette:

- The attendance policy for this course is strict. Only TWO unexcused absences are allowed in the semester. To justify an absence you must provide a doctor’s note or a written explanation from an athletics coach. If a student plans to arrive more than five minutes late to class, he or she might consider making other arrangements or inform me in advance and arrive in a non-disruptive manner. Illness on an exam date will be excused only with a doctor’s note.
- As a courtesy to the class, please be on time. Lateness will affect your participation grade.
- If you need to go to the restroom, please do so before or after the class. Restrain from leaving the classroom unless it is extremely necessary.
- You should not carry on conversations in class, even if they happen to be related to the topic. Even if such conversations are relatively quiet and do not seem to disturb anyone nearby, they can be distracting and rude to the professor. So if you have something to say or ask, please share it with the rest of the class.
- Please turn off your cell phones during class. No texting will be tolerated.
- Contact me at least one week before the due date if you have queries about an specific assignment.
- Deadlines are not negotiable.

Students with disabilities:

- Students who wish to request accommodations in this class for a disability should contact the Academic & Disability Support Office, which is committed to assisting students in the achievement of academic success. Individual appointments and group workshops are available for students who would like to improve their academic performance. Information and programs on time management, study strategies and other academic and learning skills are available. Students can work with the staff to find a tutor or other resources to enhance academic success. In addition, the Academic Disability Support Office coordinates services and support for students with documented learning disabilities and/or ADHD. Students requesting accommodations should contact the Administrative Assistant at 610.861.1510. Students interested in making an appointment with a staff member for academic help or a peer tutor, should contact our office at ext. 1510.
- Accommodations cannot be provided until authorization is received from the Academic & Disability Support Office.

Readings and films:

- All readings should be completed before coming to class. It is essential that you bring your book, readings and notes to every class as we will routinely refer to both.
- Films will be available in the Blackboard site of this course, but you should be on campus to access them so plan accordingly. You are responsible for watching assigned films outside class hours and be prepared to discuss them in class. I will post questions for you to answer beforehand.
- The required book is available for purchase at the bookstore.

Blackboard site and email communication:

- Everyone is responsible for visiting the Blackboard site of this course where you will find:
 - The course syllabus
 - Additional readings
 - Questions about the films
 - Referencing and writing advice
 - Important announcements and information
- I will send you relevant information and contact you when necessary only through your Moravian email account. I also expect you to contact me through your college email rather than your personal email. Please become familiar with Moravian email as this will be the main way to get in touch with your professors.
- Email Etiquette: Whenever you are addressing an email to someone other than a good friend, you need to follow basic email etiquette. Your emails should have a proper greeting (Hello Professor X or Dr. Y, etc.); "Hi there" or just "Hi" is not acceptable. Your message should follow the rules of standard written English (capitalization, spelling, and grammar), and a closing ("Thank you for your help," or "Thank you for your time"). It is always polite to thank the person for reading the email and trying to assist you. Also, be sure to sign the email with your own first and last name. The subject line of your email should be clear and formal. Messages that do not follow this format will not be addressed.
- If you need to discuss something with me, please come to my office hours or set an appointment.

Academic honesty:

- Moravian College does not tolerate plagiarism, cheating, or helping others to cheat.
- Plagiarism is defined as misrepresenting the work of others (whether published or not) as your own. It may be inadvertent or intentional.
- Any facts, statistics, quotations, or paraphrasing of any information that is not common knowledge, should simply be cited.
- For a more detailed explanation on plagiarism please see the "Academic Honesty at Moravian College" link under Academic Life at the Student Handbook website.
- If you have questions about how to reference others' works you should look at the referencing advice and explore the suggested websites in the Blackboard site of this course. Also look at <http://moravian.libguides.com/content.php?pid=59393&sid=436064>

- Students suspected of plagiarism or cheating will automatically receive an “F” in the course and will be reported to the appropriate school authorities.

Extra Credit

If you would like to receive five extra points you are encouraged to participate in the Student Scholarship Day and Creative Endeavors Day. Students may present a poster or do 15-20 minute presentations of their work. In the case of our class, that work will be about your research paper. Please let me know if you decide to take this opportunity. The date for our 2011 Scholarship Day is Monday, April 22nd. I will send out a Call for Proposals in early February, with a late-March deadline.

Please do not hesitate to speak directly with me if you have any questions about any of the assignments and/or requirements for the class.
